RAID ON BOOTLEGGERS

Federal Officials Take Sixteen Men From Southbound Steam Trains Last Night For Violating Reed Law—Thirteen Held.

Raids were made last night by agents of the Department of Justice on a number of southbound steam trains on persons charged with violating the provisions of the Reed law by transporting liquor interstate.

About sixteen men, thirteen of whom were colored, were taken in custody during the night and the agents also confiscated about 100 quarts of liquor alleged to be the property of those arrested.

The parties accused by the agents of violating the provisions of the law were arraigned before United States Commissioner William P. Woolfs late last night, and all except three were held for the action of the United States Court for the eastern district of Virginia. In default of bail those held were committed to jail. It is expected, however, that some of those arrested will later arrange for bail.

The parties arrested were taken in raids made by the agents on three trains bound for the south.

This is the first raid that has been made by the federal authorities here for violating the provisions of the Reed law for many months and it came as a genuine surprise to those arrested.

Previous to this all arrests that have been made were those made by the state officials and they were accordingly tried under the state law.

Bootleggers are having trying times these days dodging both federal and state officials.

K. C. IN BIG WAR DRIVE

Comprehensive Campaign For Week of November 11—Work Done by Knights of Columbus Appreciated City's Part $30,000.

Members of the Knights of Columbus and all others working by direction of the National Catholic War Council, are preparing a comprehensive campaign for the United War Work fund. The immediate need for raising thirty thousand dollars in this city is shown by the large sums spent by the K. of C. This great war work organization has four hundred and sixty-eight secretaries in American training camps and cantonments. At these points one hundred and fifty buildings have been constructed, fifty-six are under course of construction and contracts are out for more. Appropriations have been made in every camp city to develop community service. Three hundred thousand dollars has been expended in New York City. A building costing five hundred thousand dollars was erected in Boston and proportionate amounts spent throughout the States. Alexandrians know that the Knights of Columbus are doing here at Lyceum Hall and at Camp Humphreys, their efforts are untiring and thoroughly appreciated by the soldiers and sailors.

The soldiers and sailors are away from home and the social surroundings to which they are accustomed and it is necessary that everyone help to support the Knights of Columbus and the other agencies now working to keep up the moral standard of the American Army and Navy.

The Committee of War Workers of this city will visit every place of business and every home in Alexandria during the week beginning November the eleventh and all will have an opportunity to subscribe to carry on the activities of the seven great organizations now calling for funds.

It is doubtless known in Berlin by now that the American soldier is a real fighting man. He goes into battle with a song on his lips and dies with a smile in his eyes. That's morale! That's the sort of thing General Pershing and Marshal Poch have been talking about. It is the thing that decides battles and wins wars. A letter from home helps to keep the morale of the man in uniform. Meeting the demands of the United War Work Campaign keeps up the morale of the Army and Navy. The Knights of Columbus and other organizations cannot continue the field workers here and in Europe without financial support. The backing of the people at home means that the soldier will be sure that his fight in fighting. It will mean that he is satisfied and happy. It will mean keeping him physically fit and morally clean and it will prepare him to meet any sacrifice to perpetuate his ideals.

Every man and woman wage earner should contribute at least one half of one day's wages. Every person of income is expected to give proportionately.

Alexandria is asked to give thirty thousand dollars!

What will you give?

Your contribution to the United War Work Campaign supplies the comforts and influences of home to the boys "Over There."

100 PERSONS KILLED

Fearful Wreck on Brooklyn Rapid Transit Railroad—Fire Adds to Horrors—Many Passengers Injured.

New York, Nov. 2.—Upwards of 100 deaths, according to police estimates, resulted last night from a rear-end collision of two elevated railroad trains on the Brighton Beach line of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company near the Lincoln road station. Scores of men, women and children passengers in the two crowded trains were injured. Several of the cars caught fire, adding to the panic and the casualties.

A "green" motorman was said to have been in charge of the rear train, a man unfamiliar with the run, who was given his post for the first time yesterday to replace a striking motorman. He was reported to have escaped in some manner, and Police Captain Kelly ordered officers to search for him.

District Attorney Lewis of Brooklyn late last night ordered the arrest of all officers of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company.

The wreck was the most disastrous in the city's history.

With the impact of the rapidly moving rear train the cars were telescoped and some were up-ended; others collapsed like knives, firemen said.

All lights in both trains immediately went out.

Screams of women and children and hoarse cries of men were heard from all parts of the wrecked cars. Within a few moments flames broke out in several places, immeasurably adding to the horror and panic.

Many women and children, maimed and crippled, some unconscious others screaming shrilly from the agony they suffered, were borne to the street, and many men passengers who had been injured also were helped to a place of safety. Some of the passengers, injured and uninjured alike were drawn from the pinioning debris only with the greatest difficulty.

LITTLE CHILDREN FALL INTO WELL

This morning three small children—Morris Wingfield, Emma Wingfield and Bessie Dwyer—went to a store at King and Patrick streets and asked permission to enter the cellar and take some paper boxes filled there. Consent was granted and the little ones proceeded to the cellar. A few minutes after their cries attracted attention of passersby. They had fallen into a dry well, about twenty feet deep. One of the children attempted to take hold of the side of the well in order to keep from falling, but a brick which she clung to was way and fell upon the head of Morris Wingfield.

An alarm was sent to the station house when Sergt. Scott hastened to the scene. He was unable to procure a ladder, and suggested that he and some of the bystanders who were listening to the cries of the children form a human chain, and thus rescue the boy and girls from their terrifying predicament. The suggestion was adopted, and one clinging to the legs of the other the chain was soon formed upon which the little ones scrambled out of their prison. Their injuries were slight.
